Different bone marrow lesions (BMLs) (without a cyst, with a cyst, etc.) are shown in this paper, and the BMLs were constructed using the iodine-curing resin. The BMLs were represented as 3D models. A system was designed and created in order to calculate the bone marrow volume fraction (BVF) and the mean of the bone marrow densities (BMD) of the BMLs. The 3D models of the BMLs were made and segmented. A 3D model of a human skull was made in the Slicer software. The BMLs were converted into 3D models by conversion into bitmap files. The BVF and the BMDs of the BMLs were calculated. The BVF of the BMLs with cyst showed a positive correlation with the CT Hounsfield units (HU). The BMDs of the BMLs with cyst showed a positive correlation with the CT HU. The BVF of the BMLs without a cyst showed a positive correlation with the CT HU. The BMDs of the BMLs without a cyst showed a positive correlation with the CT HU. The BVF of the BMLs with a cyst showed a negative correlation with the CT HU. The BMDs of the BMLs with a cyst showed a negative correlation with the CT HU. The BMD f3e1b3768c
