References Category:Subtitles Category:SubtitlingQ: How to "prepare" Visual Studio 2008 for ASP.NET MVC 3 development I'm migrating from the ASP.NET MVC 1.0 project to the MVC 2.0 project and wondered what are the recommended steps to prepare the solution for ASP.NET MVC 3? I've noticed that there are some projects in the solution that are referencing the MVC 2.0 assemblies, these I'd like to upgrade to the MVC 3.0 version of the assemblies. I am not too familiar with the VS2010 configuration for this. A: I suspect what you are looking for are the "ASP.NET MVC 3 Tools" and the "ASP.NET MVC 3 Tools Update". A: If you upgrade your project to MVC3 the upgrade tool will generate a new package that is "MVC 3" and a new solution that targets the "MVC 3" framework. If you don't use those templates you can create a new MVC3 solution and drop all the files you need in there. The "Add" button is pretty self explanatory. You can modify those files to your liking, but beware of stuff like ActionFilterAttribute. You don't have to make any changes to the generated files, but you can if you want to.

Spontaneous rupture of the infrarenal aortic aneurysm in a patient with localized scleroderma. Rupture of an aortic aneurysm is a catastrophic event that threatens the life of the patient. Aortic aneurysms are usually asymptomatic until a catastrophic event such as rupture occurs. Localized scleroderma (LS) is a rare dermatological disorder of unknown etiology that can affect the aortic wall resulting in aneurysm formation. The patient presented with an acute onset of severe left lower quadrant pain. Emergent exploratory laparotomy revealed a ruptured infrarenal aortic aneurysm. We present a rare case of an LS patient who underwent emergent surgery.
