“One is given to the best language typing tester of the year. I am very thankful for this work. It is my first time of learning OCR and some other similar technologies. We have so many technology methods to make our study in language simpler, but we don't have any good language computer teacher, hence to teach us those, they have started Marathi Typing. They have taught us Marathi, it is very helpful for us. “By having to practice and learn, I would like to know more about this and our teacher teaches us in Marathi. Pregnancy-induced liver disease with HELLP syndrome: a case report and review of literature. A 26-year-old female patient presented with clinical and radiological features of a hyperemesis gravidarum. There was a precipitous fall in her hemoglobin, platelets, and liver function. She was managed conservatively and had a spontaneous uneventful vaginal delivery at term. After delivery, she was referred to the liver clinic for further management. She had a right upper quadrant ultrasound suggestive of mild liver dysfunction. Patient was started on propranolol for her symptomatic relief and the histology from her liver biopsy was suggestive of pregnancy-induced liver disease. The patient improved clinically with a fall in her bilirubin and platelet count and at the end of 6 months had a normal liver function test. The management of hyperemesis gravidarum with liver disease is discussed and case is reviewed in light of current literature. Russia will step up its air defence role after the downing of a Malaysia Airlines plane carrying 298 people over eastern Ukraine last week. Prime Minister Dmitry Medvedev said in an interview published Friday that Moscow would also enhance its naval presence in the Black Sea and create a navy-led task force in the region. The Black Sea is already home to two warships, which Medvedev said would be joined by one other warship in the next several months. Russia's main Black Sea base, on the Crimean Peninsula, has recently lost much of its military hardware and troops as part of Moscow's troop pullout from the country after its annexation of the Crimea. The loss of infrastructure has left the region vulnerable to a resurgence of violence there. Medvedev said Moscow would step up air defence and create a task force that would include a fleet of aircraft, including the S-300, MiG-31 and Su-30SM jets. f3e1b3768c
