Adobe AIR is a free software, available for both Windows and Mac OS, that lets you install and run desktop applications on the fly. This software is lightweight, with a small footprint, and is able to accomplish diverse tasks. For instance, it allows you to install Adobe AIR applications for free on your computer, as it's made available on Adobe's website, and is compatible with Windows and Mac OS. On the one hand, there's the possibility to launch a program through the Adobe AIR installer. This can be done via a button in the software, and once it's done, the application launches instantly, without asking for the input of a password or any kind of authorization. It's possible to set an initial position of the program, in case it doesn't appear in the center of the screen on launch. It can be placed on the left or right of the desktop, and it can't be moved. In order to change its position, there are some settings available in the software, but the customization is a bit limited. A desktop clock is available, which depicts the Earth, with Sun and Moon depending on time. Apart from the desktop clock, a tray icon is also created, which holds a few settings, but the clock can't be minimized to the tray area. On the one hand, there's the possibility to force it to run with Windows so that it's active when reaching the desktop. Additionally a dedicated option fixes it in position so it's not moved by mistake. In case it's used on a large resolution screen, there are three available zoom options to make characters cleared, thus increasing the size to 150%, or 200%. The desktop clock is displayed on the desktop and the tray area is the best spot to put it. Do you want to find the best Gaming PC at an affordable price? There are so many good PC models for gaming, including CPUs, GPUs, and PC cases. But, when it comes to finding the best gaming PC under $500, things are easier than you think. Updating your gaming PC can be an expensive and time consuming process. Yet, with these 5 tips you'll be able to update your gaming PC without breaking the bank. 1. Enhance your CPU Don't settle for a CPU that's as outdated as the 90s. The next generation of CPUs from AMD and Intel, called Ryzen and Core, are better than ever. They run cooler, faster, and have more computing power. 2. Upgrade your RAM Adding more RAM will make your PC faster. At the same time, make sure you have enough RAM for the applications you use. If your system is full, the applications will load slower. 3. Choose a graphics card When it comes to gaming, choosing a graphics card can be tricky. Opt for a card that's more powerful than the one you have. To ensure that you're gaming in the best possible way, you need to choose a card that meets the following specifications: 4. Choose a new monitor A new monitor will improve your gaming experience. Make sure that your resolution is high enough for your monitor to display everything correctly. You should also make sure that your monitor is HD or 4K. 5. SSD for games Making sure that you have an SSD or hard drive with ample space is a must. An SSD allows you to boot quickly. Furthermore, you can load your games faster. We're happy to help you choose the best gaming PC for under $500. Free PPT to Flash video converter is an easy to use, but effective software for converting PowerPoint to Flash video format and the quality of the video is kept in original during the process. The small desktop enhancement comes in a lightweight package, taking only a little while to install on the target PC. However, this is only possible through Adobe AIR, which needs to be found on the target PC as well. A clock shows up on the desktop on launch, with the possibility to have it moved freely to any suitable spot.
