Advertisement Simple Desktop Lock User Reviews: Find out why people like Simple Desktop Lock, and how to get it right away: I like this application. I use it on my desktop at my residence and it keeps my desktop from being easily accessed by people using my computer. If I forget my password, I simply log in through the web browser and change it. Works well in every situation except when I leave my computer unattended for some time. I'm not sure, but I think that the reason the program locks the taskbar and task manager is to prevent people from easily being able to access those features. I will not run this application. I've tried it, and am very disappointed. If the program is locked, and I hit the windows key (numbers 1, 2,... etc), it will open the task manager. If i restart my PC, then delete the application and try again, I can go through the whole process again, and it works again. No single application can do this. This is even more frustrating because the developer has the option of making it so that this can't happen. I guess, I just need to be satisfied with my mouse, track pad and keyboard. Once installed, it immediately locks the screen. I want to be able to lock my screen and log off. So I removed the program. All of my desktop shortcuts are gone. So I start it back up. Nothing has changed. I also had a problem using the "right-click" method to choose the lock screen picture. I ended up doing it through the "screensaver" pane and picking a screen saver. This application should include a "lock screen" button like many other popular applications. That would seem to be the simplest, most basic thing to do. The application only allows you to set the password, not the pictures or
