It is often desirable to form various shapes such as an aperture or other features on a workpiece. Several types of equipment are used for forming such features including for example, laser equipment. Laser equipment often has a laser beam guided in a beam path that extends along an axis of the beam path and includes a source of a laser beam. One use of the laser beam includes forming the features on the workpiece while rotating the workpiece relative to the laser beam. That is, the laser beam is deflected or shaped as the workpiece rotates about the axis of the beam path. Many types of laser equipment are configured for use with a workpiece that is vacuum coated. That is, the workpiece is coated with a material that can absorb the laser beam. The coating absorbs the beam and prevents the beam from striking the workpiece's surface. For example, the material may absorb the beam in a "pulse on pulse off" manner. Thus, the laser equipment is configured for the workpiece so that only the workpiece's upper surface

(i.e., the surface not covered with the material) is exposed to the laser beam. The actual deflection or shaping of the laser beam may occur in several ways. For example, a reflective coating such as a multi-layer coating may be applied to the workpiece. The multi-layer coating may include a first layer of a material such as silicon and a second layer of a material such as gold. Thus norske politikeren på fylkeskommunal nivå forteller NRK at det er en gledens dag å skrive under på Gullavtalen. Arbeidsministeren Jan Tore Sanner og påtalenemndssjef Svein Arild Dahl har flere ganger fortalt om den enorme gleden fra de fylkeskommunale til å ha fått denne lønnsomheten. Det var redaktøren i Klassekampen, Lars Mjøen, som først fortalte om de mange fylkeskommunale som har planlagt å gå av med sine lønninger på få minutter til man gleder seg. – Dette er ekte glede. Mange føler selv at
